The Teaching Multicultural Literature self paced course is designed around Annenberg/CPB Professional Development Workshops. Providing teachers with opportunities to study ethnically diverse American writers, these video lessons explore numerous resources and instructional strategies. Throughout the videos students discuss social justice, class, and race. As students are empowered to take action for change, they become better stewards of their own identities. Leading educators and featured teachers offer commentary and reflection in addition to authors who discuss their lives and works.

All class meetings will take place through distance learning. The instructor and participants will communicate via Moodle — the course platform on the Internet. Assignments and discussion forums will be facilitated in Moodle.
